

Dear Parent/Guardian:

This month our school will be embarking on a special project, an all-school book club called One School, One Book. Every family will receive a copy of the same book – Kate DiCamillo’s The Miraculous Journey of Edward Tulane – and will be asked to read it together at home over the next few weeks. I am personally asking you to make the time so that your family can participate in this special activity.

Reading aloud at home is valuable because it better prepares your child to be an effective reader, and it is also a fun, worthwhile family activity. With the One School, One Book program, we aim to build a Community of Readers at our school. Everyone – students, parents, teachers, even administrative staff – will all be following along together.

Your child will receive a copy of The Miraculous Journey of Edward Tulane on Monday at a special school-wide assembly introducing the program and the book. Along with the book, you will receive a reading schedule so that you can keep up at home. Generally, you will be asked to read about 15 minutes each night. There will also be “podcasts” for each chapter read by Parkmead staff. These can be accessed through the Parkmead website.

In school, your child will be invited to answer daily trivia questions to encourage and reward attentive listening. You will soon find that your child will take pride in knowing and anticipating the details of the story. In class, students will explore the book through activities and discussion. You will want to make sure your family keeps up so that your child can be included. Throughout the month, everyone will be talking about The Miraculous Journey of Edward Tulane!

One School, One Book is a novel program in that children of all grade levels will all be listening to their parents read the same book. Strange or daring as that may seem, it actually makes sound educational sense. Reading professionals recommend reading material out loud that is beyond a child's own reading level. We also believe that you can and should continue reading chapter books with your older children, even when they are able to read by themselves. We have selected a title that can be followed, understood, and enjoyed by younger students, but will still captivate and stimulate older children. Parents of younger students may want to preview a chapter ahead as there is a loss that occurs during this story.

I know that you’ll enjoy this special reading time with your children. I hope to talk with both you and your student sometime this month about the adventures of Edward Tulane and the lessons he learns along the way. “When a whole school reads a book, there's a lot to talk about.” With your help, we can build a Community of Readers at our school.

P.S. - The first night of reading will be tomorrow, March 1.
